

A selection of theatrically themed greetings cards.
Wish your theatrical friend good luck with their auditions!
Perfect for your fellow performers on opening nights!

Pack One

TLCGC001

Caption reads:
"Like many child actors under pressure... Jimmy turned to coke"

TLCGC002

Caption reads:
"I don't care what the plans say - it still doesn't look like widow twanky's cottage to me!"

TLCGC003

Caption reads:
"Daphne worried the prompt was rather detracting from the scene"

TLCGC004

Caption reads:
"Roger vowed the Props Master would pay for leaving the guns in the dressing room"

TLCGC005

Caption reads:
"Why read the reviews? The playwright had already received the royalties"

Pack Two

TLCGC006

Caption reads:
"The chorus were encouraged to practice their reactions at home"

TLCGC007

Caption reads:
"The inmates' production of 'Annie' was a disaster"

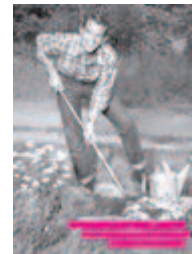

TLCGC008

Caption reads:
"Susan wondered how long she would be left to prop up the scenery"

TLCGC009

Caption reads:
"And this is what happened to the last set of actors that didn't learn their lines in time..."

TLCGC010

Caption reads:
"Pete claimed he had no idea where the theatre critic had disappeared to"

Pack Three

TLCGC010

Caption reads:
"Pete claimed he had no idea where the theatre critic had disappeared to"

TLCGC012

Caption reads:
"Lucy was shocked to hear the latest gossip on the Boys chorus"

TLCGC013

Caption reads:
"Matthew primed himself to show the Director just what he thought of his creative vision"

TLCGC014

Caption reads:
"The audience fell silent. The Director tapped his baton. Then Mary realised she had forgotten her violin"

TLCGC017

Caption reads:
"The Director had her own way of getting through opening night"

Pack Four

TLCGC016

Caption reads:
"Dawn congratulated herself on her foresight to write her lines on Derek's collar"

TLCGC017

Caption reads:
"The Director had her own way of getting through opening night"

TLCGC018

Caption reads:
"Arnold thought improv was all very well, but it didn't beat a real choc ice"

TLCGC019

Caption reads:
"Nigel was famous for his understated performances"

TLCGC020

Caption reads:
"Halfway through her solo dance routine, Sally's mind went blank"

Pack Five

TLCGC021

Caption reads:
"The autocue had fallen over again"

TLCGC022

Caption reads:
"After the hilarious 'hotpants' gag, Steve never worked on stage again"

TLCGC023

Caption reads:
"the queues for opening night made the local news"

TLCGC024

Caption reads:
"It was the threat of the casting couch that landed Enid the 'PG Tips' contract"

TLCGC025

Caption reads:
"In all the excitement of hanging my hat, I've completely forgotten my first line"

Pack Six

TLCGC026

Caption reads:
"Gerald proved conclusively that the Orchestra had been four bars out all along"

TLCGC027

Caption reads:
"Get me my agent!"

TLCGC028

Caption reads:
"Fiona should have visited the toilet BEFORE the audition"

TLCGC029

Caption reads:
"Not the first time he'd died on stage. Wouldn't be the last"

TLCGC030

Caption reads:
"And this is from the Stage Manager - sorry about the falling scenery!"

All cards are left blank inside for your own personal message.
 Supplied cellophane-wrapped with envelope.

Available to order at £5.00 per pack

Simply call 01304 361919

Show Souvenirs Ltd. 75 The Street, Sholden, Deal, Kent CT14 0AJ
 Tel: 01304 361919 – Fax: 01304 371515. email: sylvia@showsouvenirs.co.uk
 Website: www.showsouvenirs.co.uk